

TOWER RECORDS AT LINCOLN CENTER TO HOST MEET & GREET AND PRESS CONFERENCE WITH 'BLUES EXPRESS' PERFORMERS

NEW YORK - Tower Records at Lincoln Center will host a special press conference and autograph signing celebrating "Blues Express - Legends of the Blues" on January 28 at 12 noon.

Q104.3-FM radio personality Ken Dashow will host this Q&A and meet & greet, which will gather most of the living legends of the blues including "Blues Express" headliner Little Milton.

"Blues Express - Legends of the Blues" is a once-in-a-lifetime concert that will feature the finest and most important living blues musicians of the last 75 years, celebrating the contribution of these living legends to the roots and soul of the blues and their significance to the history and heritage of music.

Joining Little Milton will be musicians from the Mississippi Delta to Chicago, including: "Honeyboy" Edwards; Robert Lockwood Jr.; The Muddy Waters Band featuring James Cotton (harmonica), George "Mojo" Buford (vocals/harmonica), Calvin "Fuzz" Jones (bass), Willie "Big Eyes" Smith (drums), Pinetop Perkins (piano), and Bob Margolin (guitar); and The Howlin' Wolf Band featuring Henry Gray (piano/vocal), Jody Williams (guitar), Freddie Robinson (guitar/vocals), Eddie Shaw (sax), Sam Lay (drums), and Bob Stroger (bass).

"It is without question that Tower Records had to be involved with this fantastic project," said Tower Records NE Event Coordinator Oscar Hernandez. "For those of us who have spent most of our lives listening to music, it is a huge honor and thrill to meet the heroes that have influenced over three generations of music enthusiasts."

Tower Records Store # 866 is located at Lincoln Center/1961 Broadway (at 66th Street) in New York.
